

SOCIETY

"I've often wished that I had clear For life six hundred pounds a year, A handsome house to lodge a friend, A river at my garden's end."

How threads would be the fabric of society were it not strengthened and vivified by friendships.

But, going as it is, finely wrought with the "thousand nameless ties" binding heart to heart in sexless affection; society, in spite of the condemnation of cynics, is, nevertheless, humanity's remedy wherein is separated the soul's gold from the alloy of carnalism. Who entertains but with the motive of giving pleasure to others? Who yearns for the acquisition of wealth save to dispense hospitality that friends may be brought together in happy association?

True there are sour misanthropes with petticed loves and aims, yet even the most eccentric of these rascals is swayed by the handclasp of a friend, or the "new grower," tried and true variety. Imagine for a moment what the world would be minus Plato's love. Who would paint the great pictures if there were no loyal friend to inspire creative art? What would become of literature or the drama or even the motion pictures, if the Antonio and Bassano type were eliminated? What incentive would there be for men to pour their energies and interests to attain political distinction for one of their countrymen?
Or, course, the favor of the one so distinguished is coveted, yet this also grows out of friendship and desire to reward loyalty. Not evil but good is the seedling in the heart of humankind, and if resultant growth appears corrupt malice is responsible. Having even one dear friend, suffices to nourish to fruition the fragrant blossoms of social intercourse, and to impart to all within its influence the aroma of selflessness.

Perhaps women, more than men, are endowed with adhesiveness, and prone to cultivate the flower of friendship by hospitality, yet the unshakable devotion of man to man when a heart-companionship is once established, is as beautiful as it is admirable.

"There are a thousand nameless ties, Which only such as feel them know;
Of kindred thoughts, deep sympathies, And mutual fancy spells, which throw Over ardent minds and faithful hearts A chain whose charmed links so blend The light circlet but imparts Its force in these fond words—my friend."

"Friendship parties" now in the spot light of society just now. And wearing the aureole of soon-to-be-brides, several daughters of Albuquerque are attracting wide attention.
"Showers" of felicitations accompanied with mementos of girdled compliments, continue with unabated gusto and increasing number.

Miss Josephine Campfield and Miss Madonna Rankin, born and reared in this city are properly the recipients of pre-nuptial honors participated in by a considerable representation of society. The event of the week past was joyfully presented by Y. W. C. A. which was presented by local dramatics with the precision and subtlety of interpretation competing praiseworthy comment and instant applause from the large audience that for two nights were enthralled by following the destinies of "The Man From Home"— from a well loved American home in the scenes of old world intrigue.

The coming week, in fact the coming state is to be ushered in by the presence in the city of New Mexico's bravest, gallantest, handsomest men who will assemble to participate in the convention of the State Bar association.

And, oh, we do rejoice the Commercial club is to be once more the scene of a brilliant function. Dancing, speculations, and all the complexities of radiant lights, resonant music, fair ladies, fascinatingly gay, dignitaries of the law and legal hosting will combine to create a stately social function fitting to the occasion of the first state assembly of the New Mexico bar in the memorial period when the new state is half entered the inner chamber of sovereign independence.

Miss Rankin to Be Entertained.
One of the happy functions complimentary to Miss Madonna Rankin will be the afternoon at the hospitable home of Mrs. B. Fred Pettit, 508 North Fourth street, Thursday next.

Party for Miss Rankin.

As a culmination of the numerous ante-nuptial gayeties of the week in honor of Miss Madonna Rankin will be the party next Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Ward Anderson will be hostess to the circle of girl friends of this popular bride to be.

Miss Rogers Entertained.
A going-away party was tendered to a select few of the honoree's intimate friends last evening at the home of Mrs. O. R. Connely, 802 North Eighth street, complimentary to Miss Hazel Rogers.

Games, Exchange of Wit, Wisdom and Prognostications for a brilliant future awaiting Miss Rogers obsaged the company, and a happy finale was the dainty luncheon served by the hostess at a late hour. Miss Rogers will leave tomorrow for San Francisco to enter the California conservatory or music.

Mass in Banquetted.
A fitting finale to the grand jamboree of the Scottish Rite Masons in Santa Fe was the banquet tendered visiting brothers in the Santa Fe lodge Thursday. The library hall in the Woman's Board of Trade building was the scene, that at high noon as the Masons filed in presented a beautiful spectacle. Lavish decorations of sweet peas beautified the room and glorified the tables. The upper tables where were seated the high nobles of the order were the Masonic emblem, the square and compass developed in flat pieces of pink and violet sweet peas. More than one hundred guests partook of the feast that lasted till the mid afternoon.

Banquet at Alvarado.
The two days' session of attorneys representing the New Mexico Bar will culminate in a grand banquet and post-luncheon speechmaking in the spacious dining salon of the Plaza Tuesday evening. Cover will be laid for one hundred to include the honor guests and the members of the local bar association.

Dinner to Dramatists.
Hundreds of guests thronged the rooms and corridors of the picturesque old "Palace" now the state museum in Santa Fe, last evening at the reception tendered by the faculty, to students of the Archaeological school and to the citizens interested in the session that with this brilliant function was brought to a crowning close.

Scholars from all over the United States have been present at the sessions of this school and its findings are to be worth much to New Mexico and to all posterity.

The decorations for the occasion harmonized with the quaint furnishings of the rooms, and field flowers in artistic abundance graced the tables, shelves and deep window recesses held in the Pueblo-decorated olcasions. His excellency, the governor, and Mrs. Mills stood at the head of the recieving line, assisted by Miss Fletcher of Boston, and Judge Edward Laverne, the intellectual aristocracy of many states mingled with the scholars and social elite of New Mexico in happy intercourse till a late hour, and with the dispersal ended the Archaeological Institute that will long be famous in New Mexican history.

Parties for Miss Campfield.

One of the most charmingly popular of the September brides is Miss Josephine Campfield, who on the 5th of the month will be the bridegroom in a halo drama of matrimonial stamp and supporting her as "best man" on reality the best man and groomsmen will be Mr. Benson Newell, one of the best known young men in Albuquerque.

Tuesday afternoon the bride-elect will be entertained by the Misses Walker, Margaret and Eugenia Kelleher at the home of the former. Wednesday Miss Ethel Saint will be hostess at a complimentary party. Mrs.
Raymond Stamm has issued invitations to a Saturday afternoon affair in Miss Campfield's honor, and on Monday following a caterer of choice will be feted at the home of Mrs. J.
T. McLaughlin in honor of Miss Campfield.

Miss Campfield Honored.

Anticipated with eager pleasure by the favored ladies is the bridge party next Wednesday afternoon. At the home of Miss Gertrude Walker on North High street Misses Walker, Eugenia Kelleher and Margaret Kelleher will entertain in honor of Miss Josephine Campfield, who is to take on a new name September 5.

Five Hundred Party.

Miss Ethel Saint will be another of the weekly hostesses who will fetee

Miss Josephine Campfield in antematrimonial style. Five hundred will be the feature of Miss Saint's party Wednesday afternoon to which 3 scores of girl friends of the honorable will be bidden.

"Apron Shower" for Bride Elect.

One of the most of the ante-nuptial parties transpired this afternoon at the Hughes home on South Water-street, when Mrs. Thomas Hughes, Jr., was hostess to the intimate friends of the honored Miss Madonna Rankin. The cool, spacious rooms were vivified and glorified with a profusion of "golden glow" blossoms, which in fact diffused a golden glow throughout the apartments. While the tact and geographically advised was gayest two wee galantes, resounding rosy-cheeked capitals, entered bearing huge clothes baskets laden with aprons of every shape and design for gifts to the happy bride-to-be.
There were aprons for sewing parties, hand-embroidered aprons, aprons for washing dish work and of the approved "kitchen armor" variety.
The little basket bearers were Masters Robert Hughes and Carl Hammon. The afternoon was marked with spontaneity of delight and effusive expressions of dear friends in anticipation of the early marriage and departure of Miss Rankin at this time over the advent of New Mexico into the United States.

In celebration of the event a committee of the lodge is busily engaged in completing arrangements for the entertainment to occur in Colombus Monday evening September 18.
The initial program number will be an address by Mr. Isaac Barth, to be followed by patriotic music and performances in cavalcade artists of the city.
After several vocal solos, duos and trios there will be presented a 20-minute, dashing, ring-rounding musical sketch entitled "Das Lustige Masikanten Kleidet." The participants in this sketch that indicates by its name "thoughts of strange things" and all-day laughter, are popular comedians of local fame Misses Broell and LaDriere and Messrs. John Schroeder, John Herboth, F. Brosy, Max Bergstein, Joseph Friedberg and Co. Harry Handell and Co., Reinhardt and Drummond.

And even with the close of the play the evening's pleasure will not begin, as the floor will be cleared for dancing and to the tuneful strains of the DiMauro orchestra the spectators will make merry till past the midnight hour.

Series of Social Evenings.

After a period of rest from social entertainments, the Woman's Catholic order of Foresters are planning to render to members and friends a series of social evenings. The first of these events by this order noted for variety and original entertainment, will occur the last Wednesday in September in their new headquarters on Gold avenue. At the meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall on Central avenue last Wednesday evening, the explanation of the hall lease occasioned discussion about another meeting place and the Red Men's hall was chosen as the future home of the order.

Lodge Revel.

Dancing, card playing, music by Di Mauro's orchestra, refreshments and general hilarity will be the order of pleasure next Monday evening when the Fraternal Brotherhood will keep open house—or to be exact will hold an open meeting for friends in the Lodge in the Elks' building. The arrangements for the revelry are in the capable hands of Mrs. Steve Roe and a sub-committee who are sparing no pains to insure the social success of the evening.

State University.

"For above the Rio Grande" situated on a topographical eminence symbolic of its eminence in the educational world, stands the state University of New Mexico just now preparing to open the first college year in the new state with ambitious promises of unprecedented success.

Inductions gathered from the numerous letters of inquiry and letters requesting reservations in the dormitories point to a considerable increase in the enrollment, and the assurance that the dormitories will be taxed to the capacity limit, and that a demand for additional buildings will be urgent at an early date.

As a proof that the fame of the U. S. M. is wide spread, is the fact that every state in the union and two foreign countries will be represented in the student body to matriculate on or before September 15, the opening date.

Of particular interest the coming year will be the department of College history under the direction of Dr.
Gray, assisted by Miss Anna Ferguson.
The European plan of history study will be followed in this department.
Other student assistants to aid in various departments are Misses Alice McMinn, Alice Caroline Schaefer, B. A. and Mr. Edwin Stanley Soder.
In lieu of the classes in drama-tives and oratory, there will be a strong Debating and Oratorical association among the students to hold forth on the college forum once every week, and a Dramatic club composed entirely of students, to present college and public theatricals during the year, for the more pretentious of which professional directors will be engaged. Emphasis will be placed on athletics the coming year and the director, Mr. Robert Hatfield, who lately returned from London, and whose father is a notable artist of the British Isles, brought with him to this city, perhaps the finest collection of art samples ever seen here. One of these is a magnificent painting by H. S. Lyon, depicting an oasis in the Sahara where the camels and travelers are resting. "Rest in the Desert" is the title and expressed in the tonal thins of this wonderful country of lights, shade and mists. This rare gem came from Egypt and is valued at $10000.

Samplers of the Baxter oil paintings are also held by Mr. Birkner, and highly prized, as the Baxter secret of oil is now a lost art, since the death of this great colorist forty years ago.
One of these is the reproduction of Bullock's "Assumption" titled as an inviting artist could do. Though diminutive, the Baxter paintings are among the choicer obtainable in any of the old world museums. Paintings by David Bates and the English once numerous, dog-hair and peg on which it could not have been better, while Jack Harvey, as his sire, unscrupulous and commanding, was also perfect. The feature of the evening, however, was the senetade of fisher folk singing Italian love songs, and the accompanying piano by petite Miss Grace of Santa Fe, elicited loud applause and insisted on rehearsals. Business meetings of the club are held the first Tuesday of each month, for the disposition of business relating to club affairs, but lively contests on the court occur daily, and so at all times a popular rendezvous of the fifteen members.

The club is officers of Miss Margarette Aronson, president; Miss June Hill, secretary; Miss Helen Ward, treasurer.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Mr. L. G. Rice and little ones returned last evening from Santa Fe, where they were the guests of friends the past few days.

Miss Edith Gorley arrived yesterday from Orleans, N. Y., to assume direction of the deaconess' work of the Lead Avenue Methodist church in this city. Miss Gorley is a graduate of the Deaconess' school of Kansas City and has a wide experience, commenting that her work for the "sunshine" work in this parish.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hamm and Mrs. Marion H. Lord of Denver made up a merry party of sightseers who spent several days this week in the City of Holy Faith.

Mr. Marion H. Lord of Denver is the house guest of his brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hamm, 619 N. Fourth street.

Mr. J. O. Anderson was one of the delegates from the local church who left Wednesday evening for Vaughn, N. M., to attend the Baptist association, now in session at that place.

Mrs. Herbert Rankin of Silver City, N. M., will arrive tomorrow morning to be the guest of Mr. Rankin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Rankin, and will remain till after the marriage of Miss Madeline Rankin to Mr. Albert Learned September 6.

Mrs. John Wright of Indianapolis, Ind., spent Thursday in the city enroute from the annual convention of the Typographical Union recently held in San Francisco to her home via Ottawa, Oklahoma. Mrs. Wright is a member of the Woman's Auxiliary of the I. T. U. and states the Indians attending the convention were treated like queens by the two thousand delegates and guests at every city along the route of the I. T. U. especially as well as in the Golden Gate City.

NEW MEXICO SOCIETY

Social Affairs from Various Towns.

WILLARD.

Miss Corinne Putney was 17 years old last Saturday and invited several friends in to spend the evening informally. Her guests were Misses Audrey Sears and Leona McKinley, Misses J. W. Clegg and Earl Mc-Kinley.

Mrs. Samuel Otero and her son,

Clara have gone to Deming for a fortnight's visit with Sevora Chavez and family.

Mrs. James Chavez and her dear little daughter arrived the first of the week from Roswell to join Mr. Chavez here. They are at home for the present with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chavez.

Mr. Ben S. Jackson and his son, Lester, will leave Tuesday for a few days' visit at Belen with Mrs. Roy Brown. From there Mr. Jackson expects to go to Albuquerque to complete his medical studies there this winter.

Mrs. Roy Brown will take charge of the telephone office the first of the month. Mrs. Ross, the present operator, and her two little girls, Catherine and Margaret, will go to their claim near Burton.

The dance given Saturday evening in Herndon's hall complimentary to Carl Custer of Belen, who was visiting friends here, was one of the most successful "hops" of the summer.
Ten couples were in attendance.

Mrs. Alfred L. Means had a few friends in Sunday for a thorough enjoyable 1 o'clock luncheon.

The central table decoration was a jar of purple and white asters from the Mc-Kissor gardens. Covers were laid for Mr. Carl Custer of Belen, Misses Ned-die and Florence Means, Mr. and Mrs.

Frank Jennings and Mr. Dallas Drummond.

Complimentary to Mr. Carl Custer of Belen, a weekend visitor here, and Mr. Dallas Drummond, one of the men of the younger set, Mrs.
Frank Jennings and a few friends in for an informal 4 o'clock dinner Sunday evening. In view of the nature of the meal, the guests spent the evening at the watermelon feast under the trees.
And to all the ladies in the city an invitation is extended to be present.

Tennis Club.

In demonstration of their success of the summer, the members of the student body will have the order of pleasure next Monday evening in the gymnasium of the school road. The tennis court
